BERLIN, July 9.—Thousands of Red army troops have been taken prisoner on the Bessarabian front, the German high command announced today, and huge quantities of war material have been captured in fierce battles during the past few days.

The communique said the entire Bessarabian area has been "freed from the Soviets."

EDITOR'S NOTE: A communique issued by the Soviet high command said German and Rumanian troops on the Bessarabian front had been driven back across the Pruth river "in disorder."

Claim Advance In North

On the northern front the German announcement said, the Nazi advance was proceeding faster following road building.

German military authorities claimed that the Stalin line, already penetrated by German forces, may

PA NEW OBSERVES

It was reported to Pa New today that Frank Shuman of 707 County Line street picked two ripe tomatoes in his garden several days ago.

While on his way to work this morning Pa New saw a tiny baby bird lying dead on the sidewalk where it had fallen from a nest on a building.

This seems to be the height of the hollyhock season. Thousands of beautiful hollyhocks are in bloom around the city at the present time.

Friday and Saturday are special registration days for voters of New Castle. The registrars will sit in the office of Alderman By the on N. Jefferson street on these two days.

The past few nights have been delightful ones for sleeping, and one does not need to go out along some wooded stream to sleep comfortably with a blanket covering him. It is quite a contrast to the weather of a week ago.

Pa New notes a car being driven about the streets here, bearing a Venezuela auto license plate. It belongs to a local man who has been working here for the past several years.

Speaking of contentment—in the rear seat of a Highland avenue car, Tuesday afternoon, was a boy of about ten years of age. He had his nose stuck in a comic magazine, was licking an ice cream cone, and on his lap was a poke of pretzels which he found time now and then to invade. To the end of the car line he went all oblivious to his surroundings.

HARRISBURG, July 9.—The longest session of the General Assembly in 90 years will come to a close this week, probably Saturday, as a result of an agreement reached early today between Gov. Arthur H. James and Democratic leaders.

Concurrent resolutions will probably be introduced today in both houses setting July 12 as the day on which the legislature will adjourn sine die after a record session of 187 days, the longest since the 204-day session of 1842.

Points In Agreement

The agreement reached by the opposing political forces embodies the following points:

1. The governor agreed to have the state take over 12 county mental hospitals, located in nine counties, and to bear the cost of all indigent insane.
2. Democratic leaders accepted the governor's proposal for creation of a state WPA, subject to certain

LONDON, July 9.—Great Britain unleashed a new type of attack on the German-occupied French coastline today—possibly a naval bombardment of terrific proportions.

Reporting that the harassing assaults on the continental coast had taken a new turn, observers on the English coast reported heavy gunfire was in progress on the French side of the channel.

"They said the bombardment produced a roar quite different from that caused by R. A. F. bombing attacks, adding they believed German-occupied positions were being shelled."

This new attack, which followed revived demands in British newspapers for harassing invasions of the European continent, was delivered after aerial warfare raged throughout the night.

Six Red Cross Nurses Missing

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Congressional Democratic leaders today strongly implied they will flatly reject proposals to keep draftees in service for more than one year, despite President Roosevelt's assertion that it would be advisable for the selectees to stay in continuous training during the emergency.

Ranking legislators instead prepared to back a compromise proposal to retain in uniform only national guardsmen, reserve officers and those draftees willing to volunteer for additional duty.

Proclaims Opposition

While most leaders declined to be quoted publicly on the matter, Rep. May (D) Ky., chairman of the house military affairs committee, openly proclaimed his opposition to extending the draft training period and suggested the compromise.

May, however, favored permitting use of guardsmen outside the west.

Prime Minister Declares Iceland Was Menaced By Nazi Aggression

LONDON, July 9.—A proposal that Great Britain and the United States pool their navies to protect vital supplies traversing the "dangerous waters" of American-occupied Iceland was made in the house of commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today.

Hailing the action of President Roosevelt in sending the navy to take over Iceland, which he said was menaced by German aggression, Churchill offered the use of Britain's fleet to protect supplies and reinforcements which must be sent there in the future from the United States.

He said:

"These consignments for American forces on duty overseas have to traverse dangerous waters. As we have a very large traffic constantly in these waters, it might be found a practice mutually advantageous for the two navies involved to assist each other so far as is convenient in that part of the waters."

Welcomes U. S. Action

Churchill did not specifically recommend American protection of convoys from the United States to Britain, however.

President Roosevelt was "compelled" by the menace of Nazi Germany, Churchill said, to send the United States navy overseas and Great Britain frankly "welcomes" arrival of American armed forces at this strategic ocean outpost.

Churchill said he was unable to "find any reason to regret" the American action which he said the United States was "forced to take."

"On behalf of the house and his majesty's government, we actually welcomed it," he said.

MOSCOW, July 9.—German troops hastily moved over from the western front and crack detachments of King Michael's Rumanian army are taking a terrific pounding under new Russian counter-offensives, the Soviet information bureau announced today.

A special communique dealing with operations in Bessarabia said:

"Soviet troops destroyed two battalions of a celebrated regiment of the Rumanian army—the king's own guard."

"The first battalion was entirely annihilated by machine-gun fire in attempting to cross the border."

"Three-quarters of the second battalion was wiped out and the remainder captured."

German troops are meeting with force opposition along the entire front and at some points Red forces are counter-attacking with the aid of the Soviet air forces, it was said.

Prisoners taken in the Borisov sector indicate that large numbers of troops as well as gun batteries had been transferred from the western front. One German officer admitted he had recently been stationed in Cherbourg, it was said.

WARNS ANEW U. S. SHIPS TO BE TARGETS

(International News Service)
ROME, July 8.—American occupation of Iceland justifies Axis seizure of United States territories in the western hemisphere, Virginia Gayda wrote in the Giornale De'Italia today.
"This occupation of Iceland creates a military precedent," Premier Mussolini's press spokesman said.
"Occupation of one continent by another on the pretext of self-defense justifies immediate retaliation in the form of eventual occupation by the Axis of peripheral American territories."
"Editor's Note: Gayda apparently used the word peripheral to signify areas far distant from the Axis countries themselves."
"Roosevelt's action constitutes a new, but not surprising, gesture of war provocation. The American plan now is to seize Dakar and the Azores to encircle Europe offensively."
"The fruits of Admiral Raeder's warnings will be seen in time."
"Editor's Note: German Grand Admiral Erich Raeder has repeatedly warned that the German navy and air force will treat as belligerents any American ships or planes entering the war zones on behalf of Britain."

ENTIRE GERMAN PRESS CONDEMNS OCCUPATION OF ICELAND BY U. S.

The occupation of Iceland by the United States is a "new act of aggression against a small nation which the president attempts to justify by falsely and maliciously accusing Germany of aggression," the entire German press said today.
"Roosevelt hypocritically pretends to safeguard Iceland's interests but in reality he is plunging into an adventurous policy with the intention of tearing up the Monroe Doctrine."
A similar line of comment was followed by the Boersen Zeitung, which criticized "Roosevelt's act of violence against Europe" and said that "Roosevelt now definitely becomes an aggressor."
The Frankfurter Zeitung added: "Putting Nose In"
"Roosevelt is putting his nose right into the very field of military operations where there is shooting."
The German radio announcer, broadcasting in English, declared: "Roosevelt puts in an appearance on a battlefield where no quarter is given. He does so on his own responsibility. Roosevelt is striking Europe from behind and violates the sovereignty of a small nation."
"Since the war does not come to him in the western hemisphere he runs after it, thousands of miles, to the European hemisphere."
"Iceland decidedly does not belong to the western hemisphere. It has never been menaced by Germany."
"Roosevelt only intends to mislead his own people, who do not want war. His action is a clear circumvention of the neutrality act adopted by congress."
Diplomatic correspondence, organ of the German foreign office, suggested the German-Russian war has "alienated" the United States from the war in general but that President Roosevelt is trying desperately to "drag the United States back into it."
"The president, contrary to the solemn promises given his people, plans to create a fait accompli from which he hopes retreat will be impossible," this commentary said.
"The occupation of Iceland is a dagger blow in the back of Europe at the moment it is battling Bolshevism. The occupation of Iceland unmasks Roosevelt as an ally of the Bolsheviks."

PLAN TO COLLECT OLD ALUMINUM HERE WEEK OF JULY 21-28

Paul Dingley has been named as the old pots and pans man, the agent to collect the aluminum in short. The Greater New Castle Association and the Boy Scouts are going to aid in getting the stuff collected and you will hear more about how it is to be done.
In the meantime look over your household goods, pick out what aluminum articles you can toss away and toss them right into Uncle Sam's lap. The old boy will melt them down for use in defense work and perhaps that old kettle you can't use may turn up in a short while as a casting or a housing on an anti-aircraft gun carriage.
The aluminum shortage is serious just now. If the housewives in America let go the aluminum utensils and gadgets they don't need, the pile of aluminum collected July 21 to 28 will make a pile that will cover a ten-acre lot, six feet high. Maybe, seven, we don't know. What we're trying to say is dig out those old pots and pans and wait for the Pots and Pans Man and his agents.

SENATORS DIFFER ON ICELAND MOVE

per, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, said that the "current situation presents an opportunity to this country that should not be left to pass without decisive action."
Pepper said that the U. S. should aid the Soviet "with everything possible except men," and added that this would not lessen the flow of war materials to the British. He suggested that a military commission might be sent to Russia to study needs of the Soviets and that this country "redouble her efforts at protection capacity to furnish this aid."
Debate Continues
An informal debate continued to rage among senators over the Iceland occupation. Wheeler belittled the administration's claim that the move was defensive.
President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that the navy had been ordered into the sub-Arctic country because he had "put himself in the other fellow's place" and deemed American action the safest form of protection.
The President said that the problem of whether Iceland is in the western or eastern hemisphere depends upon which geographer had been consulted last, and said he had given up trying to find out the answer.

WILL NOT DECLARE WAR

Blasting the Iceland move, Wheeler declared that the administration, however, "will have to have a hell of a series of incidents to get Congress to vote a declaration of war."
Defending his statement last week that the United States intended to occupy Iceland, which was sharply criticized by the British and a White House spokesman, the Montana said:
"I appreciate the fact that the President and his advisers feel that the American people should permit him to decide the question of war or peace, but I heartily disapprove of this philosophy of government, and in this I am supported by the people who drafted the Constitution."
"I believe that the people have every right to know every step that is being taken by the administration which is intended to involve us in this war."
Commenting on Wheeler's Iceland disclosure, Pepper countered with the assertion that "we should be careful about revealing military secrets during the heat of debate over foreign policy."

GOVERNOR AND LEADERS REACH AN AGREEMENT

limitations as to sponsorship costs and political activity. The house majority will now approve the administration's "little WPA" bill, which has already been passed by the senate.
3. The legislature will set up a contingent fund of $15,000,000 subject to use by the governor for relief if needed, after July 1, 1942. In this way the state is to avoid a special session next year.
4. The governor agreed to increase his budget estimates by approximately $16,000,000, thus boosting his already record $613,000,000 budget for this biennium to $629,000,000. This includes $71,000,000 to be refunded by the administration to special state funds from which the money was borrowed during the last biennium for relief.
To Restore Cuts
5. The budgetary cuts made by the Democratic house and Governor James are to be restored, with a few minor exceptions, through the passage of supplemental appropriations.
The Democrats agreed to restore the 17 per cent cut they made in the commerce department budget and the governor in turn approved restoration of a similar cut he made in the budget of the auditor general's department. The budget of the treasury department, the second Democratic-controlled fiscal agency, will be increased by $75,000. The Democratic joint state government commission will receive $50,000 instead of the $150,000 asked by the house. An appropriation will be made to the department of justice for prosecution of subversive activities.
6. There will be no tax cuts at this session. The Democrats agreed to restore the personal property and bank shares taxes to their original status, minus the one-mill reductions made by the house and which were estimated to reduce taxes by $7,650,000.
7. The dispute over enactment of legislation permitting the state to borrow up to $175,000,000 in advance of tax receipts through the sale of tax anticipation notes was settled. Legal technicalities will be resolved by inserting the word "at least" before an estimated figure of revenues to be determined by legislative leaders.
8. A new system of allocating relief administrative funds will be established. Instead of the governor allocating the funds to the auditor general and state treasurer, a bipartisan group consisting of the governor, president pro tem of the senate, house speaker and the fiscal officer to whom the allocation is to be made will decide every three months what money is to be spent for administering relief.
Congressional reapportionment was not discussed by the conferees, but the Republicans were expected to adopt a Democratic plan reducing the state's delegation from 34 to 33.
If the assembly fails to agree on reapportionment, the 1942 congressional delegation will be elected at-large.

Deaths of the Day

Alan Wood Smith

Following a ten days illness of pneumonia, Alan Wood Smith, aged 71, passed away at his home, 365 Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, Tuesday evening at 6:45 o'clock.
Mr. Smith was, at the present time, works manager of the Aetna Standard Engineering Co. at Ellwood City. He was born March 20, 1870, in Pittsburgh, son of Thomas A. and Emma D. Fisher Smith, and during his lifetime had resided in Pittsburgh and New Wilmington. He was a member of the United Presbyterian church in New Wilmington and was a member of the Masonic lodge in Pittsburgh.
Mr. Smith was married in 1887 to Sara Ann Lloyd, who died August 28, 1913, and later was married to Emma E. Jayne, who died in June, 1936.
Surviving are a son, Raymond L. Smith of New Wilmington; two daughters, Mrs. Emma D. Lapinska of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Sara Jayne Brown of Orange, N. J.; a grandson, Alan Wood Smith, 2nd; three great-grandchildren, Alan Wood Smith, 3rd, Richard Joseph Smith, Richard Alan Brown, and a sister, Miss Minnie E. Smith of New Wilmington.

Funeral services will be conducted from the residence in New Wilmington Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with his pastor, Dr. J. Ralph Neale, officiating. Interment will be in Fair Oaks cemetery, New Wilmington.
The body has been removed to the Sharp funeral home, New Wilmington, and will be taken to the residence late this afternoon.

WILLIAM RICHARD BRADEN

William Richard Braden, aged 33, of 1137 Fourth street, Northeast, Massillon, O., passed away Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the United States Marine hospital, Cleveland, after a long illness.
Mr. Braden was born August 6, 1907, in New Castle, son of Ralph and Margaret Hannon Braden, and was a member of St. Mary's church, Massillon. He had served an enlistment with the United States Marines.
Surviving are his parents and two brothers, Robert and Ralph, all of Massillon. Robert is now at Ft. Knox, Ky., with the United States Army. Braden, who had lived in New Castle until he was eight years of age, was nephew of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hannon, 142 Park avenue, this city.
Funeral mass will be celebrated Friday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Mary's church in this city. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

STONER FUNERAL

Largely attended funeral services for William H. Stoner, New Castle, R. D. 4 (Scott township), were conducted from the McClelland funeral home, Harlansburg, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Charles Bell officiating.
Pallbearers were Joseph Burton, Earl Stoughton, Everett McConnell, Jasper Drake, Andrew Johnson and Francis McCracken.
Interment was in Plainsgrove Presbyterian church cemetery.

prove a fatal trap for the remnants of the Soviet armies" and "may plunge them into an 'overwhelming disaster.'"
These officials said that, according to latest dispatches from the front, the German drive is now threatening to sweep the Red army out of European Russia altogether and drive it behind the Ural mountains.
They declared the hammer-blows of the German blitz troops have not diminished despite the intense heat along the eastern front and that the same "grand-scale" decimation" which marked the fighting at Bialystok is now being repeated.
"Widened Wedges"
Wedges driven into the Stalin line by the German spearheads are now being widened into breaches. It was stated, and at several points the Germans have been able to resume their favorite pincer maneuvers in anticipation of delivering knockout blows against major Soviet units.
Authorities said the high command is determined to keep the Nazi armies close on the heels of the retreating Russians to avoid formation of a "no man's land" or any strip where the Red army reserves could rally for a new stand.
To this end the Luftwaffe was declared to be pounding the rear Russian lines incessantly, day and night.
Berlin officials added that while the onslaught against the Stalin line continues, still other German armies are marching forward to assigned bases on the eastern front in preparation for a "grand advance" deep into Russia when the signal is given.

OPPOSITION TO MORE TRAN YEAR DRAFT SERVICE

ern hemisphere, if necessary. The president told his press conference yesterday that the latter proposal is not nearly so important as keeping draftees and guardsmen in service beyond a year's training.
At the same time Rep. Wadsworth (R) N. Y., co-author of the draft act, called for "immediate decision" on these matters and declared that demobilization of draftees, guardsmen and reserve officers "would disrupt half the army."
First Comment
It was the first time either of the influential congressmen had commented on proposals by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, that draftees, guardsmen and reserves be kept in service for more than 12 months and that restrictions forbidding their use away from the western hemisphere be lifted.
"I think it is necessary to keep the guard in service and if the president and the war department recommend it to provide that they can be sent beyond this hemisphere," May declared.
"But I oppose keeping selectees in. Our system was set up to train them for a year and send them home. I suggest that the army can keep what selectees want to stay in and put them with the three-year troops."
Wadsworth, however, said that recent events showed that this country needs troops "not for training but for safety."

SONS OF V. F. W. TO MEET THIS EVENING

MR. AND MRS. HANNA HAVE GOLDEN WEDDING

"Open house" was held all day Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanna on North Lee avenue in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary, with over 100 friends and neighbors calling.

Aides throughout the day for the memorial occasion were daughters-in-law of the couple, and many lovely gifts, cards, telegrams and flowers were received by the couple in remembrance of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna were both born in Ireland and came to this country at an early age. Mrs. Hanna was the former Miss Annie Hanna, and was united in marriage with Mr. Hanna on July 8, 1891, in the First Presbyterian church in this city, with Rev. C. H. Dunlap officiating. They are the parents of six boys, who were all present yesterday, and one daughter who has passed on.

Out-of-town guests at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. John Monn and daughter, Mrs. Rutledge Cox; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hanna and Edward Hanna of Youngstown.

N. S. Club Meets

Mrs. Nicola Cassella entertained the N. S. club members, recently when they met in her home, Taylor street.

Contests were played, prizes going to Mrs. Julia Fire, Mrs. Clara Mooney, Mrs. Margaret Volpe and Mrs. Josephine Colella. Special guests included Mrs. Clara Mooney and Mrs. Anna Litrenta.

A dainty lunch was served later by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Julia Fire.

The next meeting on July 16, will be with Mrs. Julia Fire, of Division street.

Club Postponed

The picnic for the O. M. K. club, scheduled for this Thursday, July 10, at the home of Mrs. Lillian Mitchell, New Bedford, has been postponed until Thursday, July 24.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SHOCK MAY KEEP CHILD FROM HARM

When I was a boy on a farm, we built rail fences, several rails high. When wire was substituted for rails there had to be as many or more, unless these wires were barbed. Even then several wires were necessary. Now I find that many farmers get along with a fence of but a single wire and with posts far apart. A light electric current runs through the wire. This strikes me as about the greatest invention since a way was first discovered to poison potato bugs.

Back now to the pasture. I have watched a cow get her first lesson from a modern fence. Almost as curious as a tot, she pushed her nose against the wire and as she did went into reverse explosively. She had gotten a shock. I've seen a cow or two try touching the wire a second or even third time; none of them. Thereafter she avoided the wire, even the grass near it, and stayed in the field.

Might Save Children
A child beginning to toddle must be as smart as a cow. He could learn easily and quickly not to run into the street from the curb if a smooth wire very slightly charged were in his way. Such a device might save a good many precious lives.

Wise parents can easily provide an equally effective substitute without a wire. She or he can be on hand when the child first ventures unaided into the street, to give this tot a stinging shock the moment he steps off the curb. How? By immediately spanking him then and there.

Works With A Toddler
Like the cow, the tot may try it once or twice more. But if, like the cow, he got instantaneous pain each time, he would not venture from the curb unaided many times.

This system works with the toddler just as surely as it works with the cow. But you may say you know many little children who are often spanked for running into the street, but keep on running there in spite of the punishment. Yes, but the invisible wire was not always there. The youngster went in to the street many times before he got the first "shock" and many times thereafter without getting any shock.

To be effective a shock must always happen right away as surely as it happened to the cow. There must be no exception. Good cow psychology may also be good child psychology.

If you would like to read further on what I have written on discipline of the young child you may find it in my books, "The Modern Parent" and "Marriage and Parenthood," also in my pamphlet, "To punish or not to punish: when and how" to be found, no doubt, in your public library.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Suppose you son or daughter were infatuated with one of the opposite sex you considered undesirable. What would you do?

A. I would try not to belittle the girl or boy. I disapproved, would try, moreover, to be courteous to him or her. I would try to attract to my home on frequent occasions a number of boys and girls I considered more desirable, together with the "undesirable" boy or girl, hoping my son or daughter would evaluate in comparison the less desirable traits in the object of his or her heart's desire.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ABOUT WHO GETS IT

The filing of a test case, designed to clarify the situation as regards the controversial Kansas constitutional provision for publication of names of the recipients of public money, is probably a logical step. The test case came in the form of an injunction granted by Judge Robert Nesmith, in the Segwick County District Court, on an application by Harold Malone, state representative, restraining the county board of commissioners from publishing the names of relief recipients.

The injunction goes directly to the State Supreme Court, and one of the questions to be decided is whether the Kansas Constitution can contravene the Federal law, in the face of a specific Federal constitutional clause which says otherwise. If the Supreme Court finds in favor of the injunction, it should automatically clear up all the controversy in Kansas.

If, for instance, the Supreme Court should fail to uphold the principle on which the present injunction is filed, it might also be inclined to grant a mandamus which would upset the administration plan for arriving at the same general result—which is complying with the Federal ruling that names of welfare recipients must not be published. Kansas would lose about six million dollars a year in welfare funds, and perhaps two million dollars in commodities. So, in one way or another, the test case filed in Segwick County, which should be decided soon, has a very important bearing in Kansas.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:31. Sun rises tomorrow 4:40.

A Pittsburgh man got a divorce because his wife told him there wasn't anything about him she liked any more. Lots of men are told that but don't pay any attention to it.

We have often wondered what kind of a noise the giraffe would make if the giraffe could make a noise.

Our government can always make a man dive for his purse and count his change by announcing the per capita circulation.

Employed sweat is potential wealth.

Willie: "Papa, did God make man first and then make woman to please man?"

Papa: "Yes, and she did."

Willie: "But suppose God had made woman first and then made man to please woman?"

Papa: "Son, he would have been tinkering away on Adam yet."

Gov. James has signed the bill that provides for a new executive mansion in Harrisburg. We have been in the old one several times and every time we left it we had less desire to be governor.

HARDLY

She: "What do you mean by telling your boy friends that I was deaf and dumb?"

Second She: "I didn't say deaf."

Office Grouch: "Opportunity will keep on knocking at doors as long as there are vacant lots on which to build oil stations and hamburger joints."

Senator (to restaurant waitress): "In France, where you came from, one in your station would not be conversing freely with a senator in a public place."

Waitress: "In France, one in your station would not be a senator."

A local man says he calls it the "family car" because he buys the gas for it and the family burns up the gas.

Judging from the amount of cabbage planted this year there will be no shortage of sauerkraut and so far we have not heard it referred to as a "Liberty Cabbage". Kraut is good enough a name for it no matter how scandalous it tastes.

The old craftsmen are about gone. How long since you've seen a man who could strike a match on his pants?

Sunday School Teacher: "And Nebuchadnezzar was in the midst of his riotous orgy, when, looking up, he saw the handwriting on the wall. Now, can any of you little girls and boys tell me what words he saw?"

Bright One: "Watch your coat and hat."

Quite a few men do not have any use for some prominent movie actors. Those birds have their pictures taken all the time kissing a lot of good looking gals.

Some men are born great, some achieve greatness and some look on.

A Pittsburgh man is being sued for non-support by his first wife and also being sued by his second wife for non-support of his four children. He is only 29. He will get around quite a bit by the time he gets old.

In some big city cafes men who do not wear coats are not served. However gals bare at their midriffs can get anything they want.

BLUFFERS WE HAVE MET

The dog that barks but doesn't bite.

The hen that cackles but doesn't lay.

The man who promises but doesn't pay.

The boy who learns to tote a gun.

The girl who flirts but "just for fun".

When a building don't pay these days the owners tear it down and make a parking lot out of it and live happily ever after.

There are people who are not so much interested in the future. What they are concerned about is the present.

We shall have no fear of the utter collapse of civilization so long as there are barber shops and beauty parlors.

"We are a club of twelve... who are greatly interested in your advice. Tell us some of the pitfalls we should avoid when trying to interest men. That is, the kind of women men prefer and the unattractive feminine attributes that men dislike.—Bachelor Girls."

Answer: Talk to him about his ambitions and successes, not about yours or your family's. If, however, he tends toward the conceited type, do not let him feel that you have a too deep interest in him. Do not try to impress him with your popularity or tell him about the attentions you receive from other men. Neither censor nor praise other men to him. In fact, do not criticize anyone within his hearing. Force yourself to add a word of leniency for anyone who is being attacked by the crowd you are in. Because all men fear sarcasm and sharp-tongued women avoid any criticisms or repartee that are petty or have a sting to them.

Never pick at anyone, even your small brothers or sisters, no matter what their misconduct may be. One of the two chief bogeys scaring men away from the matrimonial altar is the fear of being hen-pecked. The other bogey is a fear that the woman he admires may some day become morbid. Therefore, always give the appearance of happiness, even though you are deep down in the dumps. Nothing will kill love so fast as the sarcastic bickerings of a disagreeable wife. Above all, look chic. Never let a man see you with your hair in curlers or when you are relaxing or working in slouchy slacks or negligees. Be sure that he can tolerate women in trousers before you let him see you in slacks. Many men abhor women in bifurcated apparel.

TELLING HER

The domestic battle was on. "I'm getting tired of you pestering me all the time," growled hubby. "One of these days I'm going to start telling you a few things."

"Good idea," rejoined the wife. "Why not start right now and tell me why you kept calling me Margie in your sleep last night when you know my name is Helen?"

Teacher of Economics: "Name the number of miles of railroad built in the United States in any one year."

Student: "None in 1902."

"Doctor, are you sure my husband has pneumonia? I have heard of doctors treating patients for pneumonia who finally died of typhoid fever."

"Well, madam, I don't make such blunders. If I treat a patient for pneumonia, he dies of pneumonia."

Ousted Consuls Will Go To Latin America
Pick Of Personnel Due For Work Near Home
Latin American Consulates Are Undermanned

By CHARLES P. STEWART
General Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 9.—LATIN AMERICA probably will get the pick of the United States consular personnel which now is being fired out of the Axis-dominated part of Europe. Considering that there are nine of these countries where Yankee consular staffs will be on the loose and that we had several consulates in each of them, it's obvious that the number of men seeking assignments will be considerable.

Some will get tours of duty in Washington, for the state department itself is undermanned. However, it needs no such small army as will be available.

Most of our Latin American consulates, thought are undermanned, too. They'll be glad of additional help. They're indeed, more of it than a few years ago, due to Pan-American activities, now accentuated by our urgent wartime desire for still closer trade relationships with our southern neighbors. Our European-expelled consular contingent will have a big advantage over new men at the game, in that they've had plenty of training in advance. To be sure, not many of them will be familiar with Latin American local conditions or with the Spanish and Portuguese languages. The state department has, however, established a school for these things in connection with the University of Chicago. Its course is of only a few months' duration, but it's tremendously intensive. By the time it's through with a student, already consularly well educated, he's qualified for almost any post.

I've a son-in-law of my own, a state department assistant for the past year, who's soon to start in on the Chicago grind. He doesn't need it as much as the average, having previously held down a vice-consular job for several years in Argentina. He figures, though, that this Chicago's post-graduate course will make him a super-past-master at the game.

Consuls Don't Trade

It's true that consuls and vice consuls don't dabble in actual trade.

Business has to be developed by sure-enough businessmen, but our business concerns are sending their representatives to Latin America.

Just Folks

GRANDPA'S OUT SHOPPING

We met at a window where toys were displayed.

And I knew right away from his hair which had grayed.

And the way that he lingered there, trinkets to see.

That he was a grandpa and stranger like me.

As we jostled each other, I smiled when he told:

"I'm looking for something a suitcase will hold!"

Said I, like yourself, I am out on a trip.

And am looking for playthings to pack in a grip."

He took from his pocket a picture and said:

"Did ever you see such a wonderful head?"

I reached for my wallet and took from inside:

A handful of snapshots of grand-father pride.

Two traveling Grandpops—old fools if you will—

Out shopping for trinkets their cases to fill;

Both seeking some pleasure to hide in a trip.

For children to find at the end of the trip.

Hints On Etiquette

Well-mannered children who ride on crowded public conveyances do not annoy the other passengers by racing up and down the aisles, talking continuously in loud voices, and otherwise making nuisances of themselves.

Such conduct may be considered "cute" by some parents, but it shows lack of home discipline and bad manners to most people.

But if raiding bombers are discouraged by daylight, why not make the sky bright instead of darkening the target?

For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Rom. 8:38, 39.

increasingly, every day, to attend to this part of the campaign. We and the Latin also are exchanging college students. President O'Hara of Notre Dame university started that movement back in the 1920's. We've exchanged visiting delegations of army and navy officers and government officials likewise. Recently we've had a bunch of South American newspapermen here, getting acquainted with us and writing, while in our midst, for our Yankee publications. The other day I had a letter from a Detroit editor who's organizing a party of our own scribes to tour all the Americas—Mexico, Central, South and Insular.

The trouble with us, at both ends of the line, is that we don't visit one another's countries soon enough or stay long enough to assimilate our respective "mores"—"cultures" is the technical term. It's necessary to LIVE among a people to get to KNOW 'em. I did, for a matter of years, among the Argentinians, and I think they liked me pretty well, as I did them, because we understood each other.

Lately I had a call from John White a New York City correspondent in Buenos Aires for hard onto three decades—today's best-posted North American newspaperman on the southern continent, I think.

Bungled Effort
John's verdict is that a deal of our Pan-American effort is bungled. I know what he means. Our business representatives are too abrupt and unceremonious. The Latin call for affability. We've got exceptions. But generally we set the Latin teeth on edge by our unceremoniousness.

But, gosh! At last we're TRYING—which we didn't attempt for a long while after the last war.

What OUR businessmen and others need is an experienced, long locally residential bunch of their fellow countrymen, to absorb 'em as they arrive, and teach 'em how to behave.

That's the stunt for a competent Yankee diplomatic and consular service. Maybe the right kind of consular agents is more important than our ambassadors and their attaches, for our embassies are concentrated, whereas consulate are scattered hither and yon, and more approachable, too.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

NEW YORK — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt urges young men in uniform to think ahead and prepare for a world where war preparations will not require so much of the nation's youth.

"We didn't do that last time, and you boys in the service must make sure this time that what you want to do is to make a world where a Hitler can't grow up to do things that they don't want to do."

CHICAGO — General Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the American First Committee, contends that the United States ought to mind its own business.

"Some day it is going to dawn on the peoples of Canada and South America as well as ourselves that we cannot afford to organize rescue expeditions for England every quarter of a century."

LONDON — Ivan M. Maisky, Russian ambassador to Great Britain, regards the Russo-German conflict as the "turning point" in the war.

"On the outcome depends the future not only of my own country but of the world."

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

JULY 9

1804—Alfred Langdon Elwyn, physician and student of history and philology, at Portsmouth, N. H. He collected a valuable library of American history sources. His "Papers Relating to Public Events in Massachusetts Preceding the American Revolution," a series of original documents, appeared in 1865. He also published "A Glossary of Supposed Americanisms."

1819—Elias Howe, inventor of the sewing machine, at Spencer, Mass. He conceived the idea of a sewing machine while employed in a machine shop, and spent all his spare time over a period of five years in its development. He obtained a patent in 1846.

1857—Robert Frederick Blum, artist at Cincinnati. His most important work is a large frieze, "Music and the Dance," in the Mendelssohn Music Hall, New York City. Although he was an excellent draftsman and etcher, it was as a colorist that he chiefly excelled.

New Anti-Tank Battalion Being Formed At Camp

Making Changes At Indian-town Gap—Replacements To Arrive Today

(International News Service)
INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., July 9.—Major Carl L. Peterson, of Bradford, presently attached to the 12th Infantry, today was busy organizing a new anti-tank battalion, equipped with powerful 75 mm. and 37 mm. guns.

Major Gen. Edward Martin, commander of the 28th division, announced the organization of the new unit and said it was effected through consolidation of existing anti-tank outfits and the establishment of a headquarters unit. The new battalion will consist of two batteries of 75 mm. and three batteries of 37 mm. anti-tank guns.

The 108th field artillery will lose batteries D and H to the new outfit while existing anti-tank platoons in the 53rd artillery brigade will compose the three 37 mm. batteries.

Meanwhile about 1300 replacements from the infantry center at Camp Croft, S. C., were scheduled to arrive at the "Gap" today for assignment to infantry regiments in the division. This will raise the division to approximately its full wartime strength of 15,000 men.

War Department
Has Inaugurated
Atlantic Flights

Regular Service Instituted With Air Corps Officers And
Army Bombers

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 9.—The war department, using air corps officers and army bombers, has inaugurated regular transatlantic flights from the United States to Great Britain, it was revealed today.

Officials said that the flights are supplementing regular commercial trips, because of the increased number of American and British official missions which must be ferried across the Atlantic.

The airplanes, of the multimotored bomber type, are flown over a northerly circuit, close to Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland. The exact courses flown are secret, the war department said, but the three islands can be used as emergency landing places if necessary, it was pointed out.

War department circles have known of the establishment of regular flight service for some time, but it was withheld from publication on the ground that it was a "military secret," until British spokesmen revealed its existence.

Flights originated at Bolling
Field, Washington, D. C., Mitchell
Field, N. Y., and from military airports in New England, the department said.

Land planes are used exclusively,
but the chances of being forced down at sea are minimized by air corps experts, who contend that the efficiency of present medium bombers in possession of the army are such as to make the chances of a forced landing negligible.

News Briefs
From City Hall

Police Chief Willis G. McMullen today stated that several youths who reportedly used street lights in the Narrows as targets must report at headquarters Saturday morning. Several lights were said to have been shot out. When apprehended, the boys were shooting at a target along the hillside, it was stated.

R. A. Bailey, Jr., has been granted a permit by the city bureau of building to construct a new service station at 1208 Butler avenue. The structure will be of concrete.

City Controller S. L. Lockley reported today that business so far this season has been good at both Cascade Park and Sylvan Heights
golf course.

Street Commissioner William G.
Fleming announced today a good and short route from the North Hill to Croton. He said the street department had graded The Narrows and also Cascade Street hill and both thoroughfares are in good shape.

City streets sweeper operated last night and will again operate in the downtown section between 12 midnight Friday and 6 a. m. Saturday.
"Do not park autos in the path of the sweeper," Street Commissioner William G. Fleming requested today.

The city should have a large supply of ashes for snow and ice covered thoroughfares next winter. The city is now getting ashes free from the Shenango mill of the C-I company for the first time in years.

The ordinance regulating the use of bicycles here has not yet been passed. A valuable dog was struck and severely injured by a bicycle reportedly operated yesterday on an East Washington street sidewalk.

Eastville, Pa., authorities have requested New Castle police to try and locate Clyde Eiler, 42, 314 Third avenue, that town, who has been missing for several days. When last seen he was operating a Hupmobile, Pennsylvania license 1FJ79.

Police and detectives are searching for the thieves who robbed a Croton avenue club of about $80, a camera from a car parked in East
Moody avenue, two front wheels stolen from a parked car in Sycamore way and a pocketbook containing $17 from a dental office. The thefts occurred last week, police report.

Chief of Detectives Ralph A. Criswell is on his vacation. Upon his return Chief of Police Willis G.
McMullen will have a vacation.

Several boys telephoned to police last night they found a large bag filled with soft drinks in a vacant lot along Sampson street. The unopened bottles were removed to police headquarters.

Only one case of whooping cough is listed at the city health department. During May, 20 cases of contagion were discovered, according to attaches of the health department.

Correspondent Tells Of Bomb Plane Attack Upon Nazi Submarine

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of eyewitness accounts of the battle of the Atlantic which an International News Service roving correspondent was permitted to view from the air with the R. A. F. coastal command's convoy patrol.)

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service War Correspondent

OVER THE ATLANTIC, (Delayed)—"Periscope!"

That cry aboard any ship strikes fear in the hearts of humans caught by ruthless undersea warfare; but in the aircraft of the R. A. F.'s convoy patrols it means some fine shooting at "almost" sitting birds! I am convinced, after witnessing an air attack on a submarine, that the U-boat has little chance of escape from a well-handled, modern bomber.

"Periscope!"

It was the co-pilot who spotted her. She was in the vicinity of the same 55-ship convoy (now closer to England and without loss) that I had first seen in mid-Atlantic.

"Ops," operations—the brain-room of the English campaign in the battle of the Atlantic, had warned us of the proximity of two German Kurier (four-engine) bombers. Our information and maps indicated the convoy sea-lane was clear; i. e., no enemy vessels reported in or near it.

Dive To Attack

But the Hudson's crew had kept a sharp look-out and when the sub was sighted we dove to the attack immediately, at the same time flashing a warning.

Obviously the sub-to-me it looked like a beer barrel just under the surface—had been drifting with her conning tower above water and open. She had heard us was crash diving! The choppy seas and gray weather had hidden her completely until we were almost on top of her. She was diving fast, foam kicking up around her stern.

The periscopes went under and the stern post rose from the sea as we screamed down over the spot, bomber glued to his sights and pilot opening the bomber-belly doors. The sub did completely beneath the waves as we crossed her, and then I felt the first bomb let go. It was two actually.

Released from the extra weight, the Lockheed almost hopped upwards. I jumped to a window and looked down; everybody in the airplane had his nose glued to a window.

Mark Diving Spot

Less than 50 feet from the foam that marked the diving sub a huge white mushroom rose from the sea, overgrew its stem and collapsed on top of our victim. Just the other side of the sub's position the second object hit and burst in a puff of smoke which the wind immediately trailed out as a marker. That smoky trail would last for nearly half an hour marking the diving spot, wind and sea drift.

Centrifugal force threw me away from the windows and had me clutching wildly for support! I've made many tight turns in smaller fighting aircraft but the way these R. A. F. coastal command boys throw the big 12-ton Hudsons around is a pleasure to enjoy.

We spun literally on a wingtip which was just off the waves, and plunged back to the attack. The bomber was working his Sperry for practice only because from his low height little calculation is needed. The last of the bombs let go and the bomber rose in relief. I looked back and saw the sea, smoke pot and all, vomit dark stains from its depths with a dull "whoomp" just audible over the engines. Our bomb attack was finished!

Widening Oil Spotch

We circles back over the spot but there was nothing to be seen except a widening oil spotch on the choppy surface. To our right destroyers were coming up, so we detailed back to our job of circling the huge convoy.

The sub was not claimed definitely hit and destroyed, but a probable. I don't see how any sub could survive such close bomb bursts in quick succession but the pilots pointed out her diving speed increased under the surface, she could have turned away or she might be damaged and limping off.

At any rate she had turned from her purpose of attack.

Our relief arrived and we swung back towards England. For us England lay a few hours away; for the convoys—days.

I could only think of that sub and those men, and how conclusively this attack had proven that any submarine vessel is helpless before diving air attack.

The British fleet air arm has proved it at sea with torpedo planes, the R. A. F. has proved it at sea with torpedo planes and bombers, and the Luftwaffe has proved it on land and with the Stuka.

Our convoy carried dive-bombers for Britain!

Boy Scouts Are Completing New Camp Nature Hut

Court Of Honor Planned At Camp Friday Evening — Church Service Sunday

Finishing touches to the new nature hut being constructed at the Lawrence County Boy Scout Camp, are being accomplished this week by the boys in camp who are working towards securing their woodcraft merit badge.

The scouts at the camp, which opened on Monday of this week, are having a fine time, and finding their schedule full of healthful and educational activities. Motion pictures were scheduled to be shown in the beautiful camp amphitheater Tuesday evening.

First camp Court of Honor is scheduled for Friday evening, and at the rate the boys are working on advancement projects, the number who appear before the court for merit badges and higher ranks will be quite large.

Rev. J. A. Cousins, pastor of the Croton Methodist church, will deliver a special sermon at the camp church service, scheduled for Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Parents and friends of the boys are welcome to attend either the Court of Honor program or the church service, it was announced.

Sitting as a board of appeal, County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer and Mercantile Appraiser James Amode heard appeals from mercantile appraisals on Tuesday. There were but few.

Bids on the repairs of the Cherry street bridge were opened today. Several bidders have had their bids in the office of the county controller, Frank W. Hill, for several days. The one question that is perplexing just now is how long it will take to get steel.

Abe Klingensmith, a clerk in the office of the county controller is back from his vacation. He didn't go to Atlantic City, nor yet Niagara Falls. He went to Edinboro lake and spent some time there with the balance of his vacation spent in Neshannock township.

Registration took another spurt in the week just past, due mostly to men and women getting their citizenship papers. One hundred eleven new voters registered, of which 84 registered Republican and 27 Democrat. Twenty-five Democrats changed to Republican and one Republican changed to Democrat. The week's registration showed a net gain of 81 for the Republicans.

Many of the new citizens registered the day after they received their papers. Other will register in the next few weeks, it is thought, and with primary day less than 60 days away, the registration office will probably be busy.

The special days allotted to New Castle and Ellwood City will likely produce a considerable number of registrations, it is thought.

Fourth Annual Slovak Day On Sunday, July 13

Fourth Annual Event Will Be Held Sunday At Harris
Park, Neshannock Falls

Final plans and arrangements have all been made for the fourth annual Slovak Day, which will take place on Sunday, July 13, at Neshannock Falls.

Starting at noon, buses will be used to accommodate the crowd transportation to start at St. Michael's church. Buses will go to Neshannock Falls every half hour.

During the afternoon a speakers' program is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock, which includes: Rev. Fr. John Hruska, of St. Mark's church, of McKees Rocks; Judge W. Walter Braham; Judge Charles Matthews, Jr.; Mayor Charles B. Mayne; State Assemblyman, Presley Jones; State Senator J. K. McQuiddy; District Attorney, John G. Lamoree; and Rev. Fr. William M. Pisarcik, pastor of St. Michael's church, who is honorary chairman of the event.

Included in the period of entertainment is a sports program, arranged for the occasion, which will feature races and games of all kinds, for young and old folks. Andrew Uram is in charge of this program. Delicious refreshments will be served, and a picnic dinner will be enjoyed.

Music for the afternoon's pastime will be provided by the talented Miscovitz brothers of Homestead. The group will play folk songs, polkas, band music and patriotic airs. In the evening, they will furnish the music for the annual dance. General chairman for Slovak Day is Joseph Chabak, and he is being assisted by a list of able committeemen.

Whitney Will Be Paroled August 11

(International News Service)
OSSINING, N. Y., July 9.—Richard L. Whitney, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, will leave Sing Sing prison on parole August 11.

With his wife, Gertrude, and unmarried daughter, Alice, 22, he will go to a hamlet about 100 miles from Boston and take a job managing a large dairy farm. He will get a salary and house.

Whitney was handed a slip of paper Tuesday as he left a 15-minute parole hearing in Sing Sing. It advised him he had "passed" and that he would be freed next month after serving 3 years and 4 months of his 5 to 10-year sentence for larceny.

August 11 is the earliest possible date on which he could be paroled. "We believe he is a good parole risk and that his release will not be incompatible with the best interests of society," said Dr. Joseph W. Moran, of Albany, chairman of the state board of parole.

Agricultural Advisory Defense Committee To Aid Farm Labor Problem

The Agricultural Advisory Defense committee of Lawrence county, of which W. Sharp Fullerton, of R. D. No. 7, New Castle, is chairman, has been designated by the Pennsylvania Agricultural Advisory Defense Council as the source of contact for farmers in this county who are meeting with farm labor problems. Through the State Agricultural Council, of which Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light is chairman, arrangements have been made under which available labor may be procured through the offices of the State Employment Service and the County Assistance Board.

The county committee advises farmers to apply directly to offices of both those agencies which will give every possible assistance to fill farm jobs. It is also urged that persons who desire to get farm employment register with the employment office. Should a widespread acute situation develop which cannot be met by these sources, the county committee will immediately take up the matter with the state council which is arranging plans for the possible migration of labor from one section to another in the event that conditions should warrant such measures.

Under arrangements made by Secretary Light and Dr. William Mather Lewis, chairman of the State Selective Service Board, representatives of that board met during the past week with each county agricultural defense committee in this state to explain the course to be followed in an attempt to procure farm labor from those cases where it is justified. This effort, it is said, has helped greatly in clarifying the draft situation as it pertains to necessary farm employees and was made as one of the steps being taken by the state council in its attempt to alleviate the farm labor situation where shortage might occur. Any farmer faced with a draft problem can contact any member of the county committee who will be glad to assist in the making of deferment claims.

The State Employment Service is arranging to give special farm labor service in each of the offices throughout the state. The office for this county is located at 132½ E. Washington street, New Castle. It is urged by the employment service that farmers list their needs for help at that office in advance of the actual requirement so that if the labor is not available in that area other employment offices can be contacted.

Under regulations of the Department of Public Assistance, all able-bodied employable persons receiving relief must actively seek employment. All such persons must be registered with the State Employment Office which refers them to job openings. If an employable person fails to report for, accept, or continue on a job, relief is discontinued unless the reason given is found justifiable by the assistance board.

According to the State Department of Public Assistance, the county boards of assistance are anxious to know about every farm employment opening in the county. The office of that board for this county is located at 321 S. Mill street, New Castle. It is stated that even if there is no person on the relief rolls who can be immediately referred to the particular job, the information will be valuable to the office since an able-bodied applicant might apply for relief at any time and instead of being placed on the rolls he will be referred to the job which is listed. At the same time that the County Board of Assistance is notified of a job opening, the nearest state employment office should also be notified as the employment service has lists of other persons seeking employment, including WPA workers.

The members of the local county Agricultural Advisory Defense committee are:

Film Star Does His Own Stunting In Plane Scene

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, July 9.—It's not often that a studio will permit a major player to risk his neck stunting a plane in a picture but hand some and rugged John Payne did it in his role of a radio pioneer in "The Great American Broadcast." He piloted a replica of an ancient Jenny of the type used by American flyers in the first World War. However, the ship was a Jenny only in appearance. It was built to order by Marion McKee, noted plane designer, and race pilot, and is guaranteed to withstand any punishment. Payne also wore a parachute. He is a veteran of the air lanes, having rolled up a total of 1500 hours in the air.

The studio expects to get back its investment in the plane as well as a profit since ships of this type are in constant demand by all the studios.

PETTIT-BADER WEDDING

In the nicely decorated living room of the Bader home, a quiet wedding was performed on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, uniting in marriage Miss June Ione Pettit of Union City, and Edward Stewart Bader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bader of New Middletown, Ohio.

Rev. Orville Lueck of St. Luke's Lutheran church officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride was stunning in a navy blue dress, with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. She wore as the only jewelry a beautiful watch given as a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Herman Bader, Jr. as matron of honor, also wore navy blue and carried yellow roses. Herman Bader, Jr., served as best man.

The pianist of New Middletown church played "I Love You Truly" and the Wedding March.

A delicious supper was served later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bader. The newlyweds will reside at the groom's parents, Edward Bader is employed in Niles, Ohio.

WHAN REUNION

A very pleasant day as spent on Friday, July 4, when relatives of the Whan family gathered in the Thompson Grove for their annual reunion. At noon a delicious picnic dinner was served to approximately fifty persons. A business meeting was held in the afternoon with the following officers being elected: President, Mrs. Mary Kaercher of Youngstown, O.; vice president, Mrs. Stella Morgan of North Lima, O., and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Thompson of this place.

The afternoon was spent in sports for the children and horseshoes for the men, after which everyone enjoyed their picnic supper at the same place. Guests were from Cleveland, O., Youngstown, O., and Detroit.

MCANLIS REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Hoffmaster entertained at their home the McAnlis families for their annual reunion with a sumptuous picnic dinner being enjoyed at noon. At a short business meeting the following officers were elected: President, R. R. Douglas; vice president, Mrs. Mary Dixon; secretary and treasurer, Miss Wilda Fullerton. The afternoon was spent socially. They adjourned to meet the same time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McAnlis of New Galilee.

FAMILY DINNER

Members of the late Mrs. Isa Dixon family met July 4 at the old Dixon homestead on the Petersburg road and enjoyed a family reunion. Swimming and fishing were the main events of the day.

Navy Reserve Officer Coming Here On Thursday

Will Interview Local Youths
Who Are Interested In Officers Program

Ensign William J. Miller of the United States Naval Reserve will be at the New Castle Navy Recruiting Station, post office building on Thursday, July 10, to discuss with those interested, the "college graduates naval reserve officers training program." This is a course open to native-born, unmarried, college graduates between the ages of 20 and 28. Those eligible will be given a four months course in either deck training or engineering which will qualify them for a commission as an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Ensigns so commissioned will have the same opportunities for advancement as officers in the regular navy.

Ensign Miller, who has just received his commission under this program will be at the local recruiting office from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. on Thursday.

Ordinary Soap Is Used As Fish Bait In Georgia

(International News Service)

VIDALIA, Ga., July 9.—Fishermen around Vidalia don't worry if they can't find the right kind of worms for bait—they just get a cake of soap and ply the trade of Isaac Walton.

Sportsmen in these parts say the catfish in the surrounding creeks rather like the color, scent or effects of a certain brand of soap—even taking it with more eagerness than the conventional lures or juicy worms.

Fishermen cut the soap into thumb-sized pieces and bait the hook, and have no trouble at all in bringing home a mess of the big fellows—the size of the cuts are too big for the little ones.

Says Sheriff To Be Responsible For Any Damage

Mine Operator At Zelienople Declares County Must Stand Truck Damage

(International News Service)
ZELIENOPLE, Pa., July 9.—Sheriff Charles O'Laughlin of Beaver county will be held responsible for any future damage to mine trucks in a CIO picketing drive here, Mine Operator Jimmy Cunningham declared today.
Cunningham said O'Laughlin was too busy playing host to the Pennsylvania Sheriff's association convention at Beaver Falls to attend to his duties. He charged his appeals for protection were answered by two deputies, who were unable to cope with the situation.
Cunningham and his father operate the C. & S. Coal and Clay company here. He explained they received temporary protection from state police "after a lot of our trucks were damaged and the townspeople threatened to take things into their own hands."
The CIO is trying to organize the Shirley coal mine near here. Cunningham's trucks were involved because his trucks haul through the Shirley company property.

Britain Shows Concern Over U. S. Revelation

Assails Statement Made By Senator Wheeler On Iceland Occupation

By ROBERT A. MCGILL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The White House disclosed today that President Roosevelt had received an official dispatch from British Prime Minister Winston Churchill expressing concern over premature announcement of military movements such as the prediction of Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont. on July 3 that the United States was sending troops to Iceland.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said the dispatch "was not at all in the nature of a protest," but that it did say such premature announcements "jeopardize life."

Early explained that Churchill was referring to British lives when he spoke of the jeopardy.

Secretary Early said that the communication from Churchill was dispatched direct to the president through the state department. He was asked whether its contents would be officially communicated elsewhere.

"It is being officially communicated to the press and I haven't the slightest doubt that in five minutes it will get to Capitol Hill," Early replied.

Disclosure of the Churchill note wrote another chapter in the bitter feud between President Roosevelt and Sen. Wheeler over international policy. Yesterday, speaking from the White House, Early said that dispatches from London criticizing Wheeler's action in predicting the Iceland movement reflected the administration's attitude. To this, Wheeler replied that he would tell the country every time he learns of "a step by the administration toward war."

"I think the people of this country are entitled to know when serious steps leading to war are taken by the war and navy departments," the senator asserted as he branded Early's remarks "autocracy."

Strategists tell us the "initiative" gives great advantage, but don't you have it when you slap a tiger?

Farewell Dinner Honors Caldwell

District Bell Company Employs Honor Departing
Manager Last Night

District employees of the Bell Telephone company had a farewell dinner at a Harlansburg road tearoom last night as a tribute to Virgil R. Caldwell, who has been manager of the New Castle district of the Bell Telephone company for several years, and was recently promoted to a position with the company in Pittsburgh.

During the evening a brief program was observed, with A. D. Supple acting as toastmaster, and remarks being made by Kenneth Beck, district plant superintendent; E. N. Jessop, district traffic manager; Wayne Sparrow, manager of the Bell company office at Sharon; Larry Lees of Pittsburgh, whom Mr. Caldwell will succeed in that city.

William J. Toner, manager of the Rochester office of the company, made a brief speech, and presented Mr. Caldwell with a traveling bag, as a memento of the occasion. Mr. Caldwell responded briefly.

Freight Train Is Derailed Near Leechburg, Pa.

(International News Service)
LEECHBURG, Pa., July 9.—The locomotive and about 14 freight cars on a fast eastbound Pennsylvania railroad train were derailed here today.

Eye-witnesses to the accident said no one was injured, although a locomotive of the station was smashed, and the platform was crowded with people waiting for a passenger train.

One of the freight cars plunged down a 30-foot embankment into the Kiski river. The locomotive scraped along the roadbed and then flopped over on its side.

Joe Louis Denies He Socked Wife

Files Answer To Divorce Action
Brought By His Wife
In Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 9.—Flatly denying that he socked his wife, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis today filed a stinging answer to the divorce suit of the former Marva Trotter and asked that it be dismissed.

In a bill filed through his attorney, the Brown Bomber denied that Marva had conducted herself as a "true and virtuous wife" or that she had treated him "kindly and affectionately."

Most of Joe's contentions were centered around his financial position which he said was viewed by Marva much too optimistically.

He stated that his real estate in Detroit and Chicago is worth much less than $400,000, the figure mentioned in Marva's suit filed last week. His annuities, the boxer held, also do not total his wife's estimated $400,000.

The champion asserted that he had showered Marva with frequent gifts of money, ranging from $500 to $5,000 in addition to a weekly allowance of $100.

Above that, Joe contended, he pays bills for her amounting to some $4,000 to $6,000 a year. He also claimed that he has given her an apartment building on the South Side that brings in $300 a month in rentals.

The fighter flatly insisted that he had never struck his wife, a former Chicago secretary, or did anything to cause her physical inconvenience or to cause her to require medical attention.

Although Joe "proudly admits that he is the world's heavyweight champion," he stated that his income is not as great as the $250,000 estimated in Marva's bill. His answer to the divorce suit also contended that he never told his wife or anyone else that he didn't want children and it concluded with a plea that the suit be dismissed.

MISSING MAN'S BODY IS FOUND

almost entirely wasted away. It was clad in the lower half of a suit of long underwear, a garment which was missing when the clothing of Moran was found on June 29, and was identified almost to a certainty by Frank and Zack Moran, sons of the missing man, as having belonged to their father.

Believed Moran
The two boys were taken by police to Ritchie's funeral home, where the body had been removed at the orders of Coroner Nugent, and after an examination, the two boys stated they were practically certain that the garment belonged to their father.

Another identifying factor was the man's teeth. The body had only the next to last one on the left side, and there was an incisor missing in the lower jaw, all of which corresponded to Mr. Moran's dental condition.

Mr. Moran, it is said, was in habit of taking a bath in the Shenango river, and is believed to have been drowned while thus engaged, on the day that he disappeared, as he was not seen after leaving the tin mill, where he had received his physical examination on the morning of June 11.

Moran is survived by his wife and seven children, John, Irene, Frank, Zack, Peter, Howard and Valeria.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and burial will take place in Greenwood cemetery.

CHILDREN AND AGED CIVILIANS LEAVE MOSCOW

berg or Sverdlovsk would not materially injure the Soviet position provided the Red armies can be kept intact.

Nazi Losses Severe
All reports here say the Germans have attacked everywhere with utter disregard of losses, which have been extremely heavy in both men and material.

Observers in Ankara agree the German position will be extremely difficult if the Russians maintain organized resistance until the rains start in September.

By then, roads will become impassable and the wide-gauge railways which the Nazis adopted for defense a century ago will be unusable if the Russian policy of destroying rolling stock is followed. This will leave the Germans no means of transportation in vast areas of Russia.

While the German drive is now concentrated against Moscow, the principal objective by the end of the summer is believed to be the Ukraine and then through to Astrakhan and the fabulous oil country to the south.

CHURCHILL HAILS U. S. OCCUPATION MOVE IN ICELAND

can forces greatly reduces the danger to Iceland. This measure if American policy therefore is in complete harmony with British interests.

Will Cooperate
"It would be obviously foolish for the United States to have one plan for defending Iceland and Britain another. If the issue of principle is at stake, it is for Britain to lead, and American naval, military and air force authorities to study each others' convenience to the utmost."

"A second principle of United States policy is the declared will and purpose of President Roosevelt, the congress and the people of the United States not only to send all possible aid to Britain but also to make sure we get it."

"Here again in this course of action, for which the United States must take full responsibility, the position of United States forces in Iceland would require their being sustained or reinforced."

MOSCOW CLAIMS MORE SMASHING ARMY SUCCESSES

were claimed by the Soviet high command today as fighting increased in violence up and down the Russo-German front.

In the Polodsk region, roughly 100 miles east of the city of Dvinsk, the latest war communique said, Soviet forces hurled the Germans into a westward retreat after the Nazis suffered heavy losses and left hundreds of dead on the battlefield.

Further south, around Lepel, the Red army was declared to have wiped out two motorized regiments, annihilating four heavy and light Nazi batteries and a considerable number of anti-tank guns.

During the night, 62 German planes were said to have been destroyed while seven Russian machines were lost. Yesterday, the communique added, 102 German planes were destroyed while the Soviets lost 10.

Thus, according to the Soviet figures, the score in planes lost for the past 24 hours stands: Russia—17 machines; Germany—164 machines.

New Success Claims

The new claims of successes for the Red army followed an earlier communique which said powerful Russian counter-attacks were holding the German advance all along the line and that German and Rumanian troops had been driven back across the Pruth river "in disorder" on the Bessarabian front.

"During last night," said the new war bulletin, "important actions occurred in the directions of Polodsk, Lepel and Novograd Volinsk."

In the direction of Polodsk heavy and stubborn fighting continued in the Borkovichi district, in the course of which our troops inflicted heavy losses on the Germans, who left hundreds of dead on the battlefield and fled in a westerly direction.

In the direction of Novograd Volinsk the Soviets without respite continued intense fighting against enemy motorized troops and tanks, checking their advance towards the east.

Inflict Heavy Blow

"In the direction of Lepel the Soviets inflicted a heavy blow on the enemy, wiping out two motorized regiments and annihilating four heavy and light enemy batteries and a considerable quantity of anti-tank guns."

"During last night the air force in aerial encounters and on air-dromes in the directions of Lepel, Borisov and Bobruisk destroyed 62 enemy planes. The Soviets lost seven."

"According to verified figures the air force yesterday destroyed 102 enemy planes while the Soviets lost 10."

The earlier communique reported heavy fighting throughout Tuesday in the Ostrov, Polodsk, Novograd, Volinsk and Belits sectors.

Soviet troops supported by tanks and aircraft are holding up the enemy advance on the Novograd Volinsk sector," the communique said.

"The Soviets are stubbornly repulsing an offensive by large enemy tank units."

Frequent Counter-Attacks
"Our troops frequently counter-attacked during fierce fighting that raged on the Ostrov sector."

"The enemy suffered heavy losses in the direction of Ostrov. Fighting continued with the enemy, which is trying to fortify itself on the northern bank of the western Dvina river."

"Toward Borkovichi and in the vicinity of Belits our troops are still engaging enemy infantry and tanks."

Editor's Note: The London Daily Express in a dispatch from Stockholm said it was learned the Russians wiped out thousands of German air-borne troops and hundreds of parachutists who landed in the Minsk zone.

German Losses Tremendous
"This account said it was estimated the Germans threw five divisions—between 40,000 and 60,000 men—in transport planes and gliders into the battle in the Minsk area, and that a large percentage are 'known to have been destroyed.'"

(The London Daily Mail quoted the Stockholm radio as stating that the German losses were "tremendous" and that trainloads of wounded are pouring into Berlin.

Hospitals in Poland and East Prussia already are full of wounded Germans, the Stockholm radio was quoted as reporting.)

Objectors Camp Has Been Opened

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., July 9.—The first camp for conscientious objectors in Pennsylvania was opened today at Red Bridge, nine miles north of Kane, under the sponsorship of the United Brethren church.

The camp site was formerly occupied by the civilian conservation corps, which vacated the property July 1.

State selective service officials, who have been sending objectors to military service camps in Virginia and Maryland, said they have orders to send 10 men to Red Bridge camp, but no date has been set for the transfer. They added that the men probably will be assigned to road and bridge construction.

STRIKE CAUSES LAYOFFS

(International News Service)
DETROIT, July 9.—A shortage of materials caused by a strike at the National Automotive Fibres Company today prompted Chrysler Corporation officials to send 5,000 employees home with the prospect of other 2,000 workers would be idle later in the day.

The 700 fibre plant employees went on strike a week ago and last night rejected a proposed settlement which would give them an eight cent an hour pay hike. The fibre strikers are affiliated with the UAW-CIO.

Six Fliers Safe; Three Planes Lost

Six Army Corps Fliers Bail Out
Of Light Bombers In California

(International News Service)

MADERA, Cal., July 9.—Six U. S. Army Air Corps fliers were safe today, but three light bombers they were flying on a routine flight from Tucson, Ariz., to March Field lay wrecked within a 10-mile radius of Madera.

The men all parachuted to safety last night, forced to abandon the bombers when they got far north of their course and each ship ran out of gas. Each plane carried a crew of two.

Those who bailed out were: Lieut. J. R. Cables, of Concordia, Kan.; Sergeant G. M. Thomas, Knoxville, Tenn.; Sergeant Kerron; Lieut. A. M. Rulison; Lieut. H. E. Adams, and Corporal C. L. Norwood.

All were attached to the army air base at Savannah, Ga.

List Of Lobbyists Turned Over To F.B.I.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Brig. Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of army construction today told a house military affairs subcommittee that a list of asserted lobbyists who claim to be able to secure contracts for construction companies has been turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"I have the names of six men suspected of such activities, but I can't make them public at this time," Somervell said.

At the same time the general told the committee that $31,816 paid to a former army officer by eight different contractors has been withheld by the war department in its payment of contracts.

The witness said that the man who collected $31,816 was R. C. Marshall, former brigadier general and chief of army construction during the World War.

Marshall testified previously before a senate investigating committee that these fees were for consulting service only.

six missing nurses may have been picked up by some other ship, or still may be rescued.

The Red Cross reported the following as safe: Rachel M. St. Pierre, 21 Linwood Place, Amesbury, Mass.; Marion Blissett, Kalkaska, Mich.; Victoria M. Pelc, 41 Chase street, Auburn, N. Y.

Lillian Pesnick, 384 Livingston avenue, Albany, N. Y.

The Red Cross said the nurses sailed on June 5 for the Red Cross Harvard hospital in southwestern England.

Two Other Nurses Missing
The Red Cross said that there still have been no "conclusive reports concerning the safety of two other nurses of a contingent of 17 aboard the Dutch freighter Maandend, torpedoed two weeks ago in the Atlantic. Still missing are Mrs. Ruth B. Breckenridge, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Washington, D. C., and Maxine C. Loomis, 63 Dover street, Springfield, Mass.

Red Cross Chairman Norman H. Davis said it was "deepest sorrow" that the Red Cross was "compelled to announce that these brave women, en route to Great Britain on a vital mission of mercy, have been subjected to barbaric treatment."

"All of the nurses," he said, "volunteered for this overseas humanitarian service. It is tragic that women prompted to such unselfish and heroic action should be the latest victims of aggression on the high seas."

Will Use Plant At McKeesport To Make Shells

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 9.—Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation announced today its McKeesport Tin Plate company plant will be reconditioned within the next three months at a cost of four to five million dollars for the manufacture of shells for the United States government.

The plant, which has been idle for more than a year since J. & L. bought the property when it took over the tin plate business of the McKeesport firm, will produce 105 and 155 millimeter shell casings, it was revealed.

Williams Homers To Give American Leaguers Victory

Frank Merriwell Homer With Two On In Last Of Ninth Features All-Star Game

ARKY VAUGHN HITS TWO HEALTHY HOMERS

By RUSSELL FULLER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

DETROIT, July 9.—Ted Williams had the last laugh over Joe DiMaggio today.

For weeks now, the sports pages have featured Joe's prolonged hitting streak which smashed every all-time major league record and which now stands at 46 consecutive games. And all the while, Ted has been slugging the old apple at a clip exceeding the 400 mark but to an apparently unappreciative audience.

So Ted, yesterday, in the ninth annual major league All-Star encounter, comes up in the last half of the ninth inning with the American League aggregation trailing 5 to 4, with two on, and clouts a home run with two men on base to give the American leaguers a 7 to 5 victory.

Merriwell Finish
It was a Merriwell finish. There were all the elements. There were those two men out. There were the 54,674 fans who gathered under a sky that was dotted picturesquely with sunshine and scudding white clouds. There was the tension. And so Williams gets hold of a fourth ball tossed to him by Claude Passeau of the Chicago Cubs and hoists it high into the third deck of the night field bleachers. DiMaggio scores before Williams, along with Joe Gordon, and standing there at the plate to greet Williams as he crosses the old rubber is DiMaggio.

But it would be unkind to forget the other man. The other man being, Pittsburgh's Arky Vaughn.

Going into that last half of the ninth, Vaughn was the star. For, the National League he had blasted out two home runs, more than any other man, including the greatest of sluggers, had ever walloped in any other All-Star game since its inception.

Vaughn Homers
With the National outfit trailing 2 to 1 in the seventh, Arky, unsung and unheralded, swatted one into the upper right field deck scoring Sluggery of St. Louis ahead of him. Then in the ninth, he parked another one in the same spot with Johnny Mize of St. Louis on base. So, for a while, there he was, with the fans and the records riding with him.

But Williams, the powerful slugger that he is, came up there in the ninth with the chips down and snatched a homer the like of which has never been seen before in Briggs Stadium, except on one other instance—the time Williams cleared the whole right field pavilion with a lusty blow. Suffice it to say that Passeau was the losing pitcher; that Edgar Smith of the Chicago White Sox received credit for the win; that Bobby Feller, Cleveland's fireball artist pitched for the first three innings for the Americans and allowed out one hit while whiffing four batters; and that there were the rest of the stars who did their bit to attract a big crowd which paid money which will be turned over to the United Service organizations for entertainment facilities for the boys doing their bit for Uncle Sam.

But the story was Williams versus DiMaggio versus Vaughn; Williams who just lived up to his ability, DiMaggio who is DiMaggio and Vaughn who was downhearted after the game but had no reason to be.

Lach On Way To Pacific Coast
Local Youth Will Play In National Public Links Tourney

Ted Lach, Sylvan Heights protegee, who at the age of 16 years, has qualified twice for the National Public Links tournament, is now on his way to Portland, Ore., where he will compete in the national event, which gets under way there on Monday.

Local golfers subscribed to a fund to help pay Ted's expenses, as he has been attending school and unable to work because of his age. He expects to get to Portland in time to get in several practice rounds of the national tourney links before starting into the eliminations.

If Ted is on his game, he will be able to give a good account of himself, and local golfers are hopeful that he will make the grade.

In early games the Yankees and Thunderbolts battled to in baseball. The Indians beat the Swallows in volleyball.

League Managers To Meet Tonight
Tonight at 8 o'clock all managers and officials of the City Baseball league will meet in the St. Joseph Parish hall with Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra, head of the league, conducting the meeting.

All matters pertaining to the winding up of the first-half championship will be discussed, and a general discussion of the second-half will take place. Whether or not the teams will be in the league for the last half will be talked over. There is a possibility that two of the teams may decide not to enter the second half.

Red Hot Races In Both Loops
Yanks And Indians Battle For American League Flag, Dodgers And Cards In National

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 9.—With the All-Star game out of the way, the major leaguers were headed back to their various posts today, their three-day respite from the championship races, coming to an end and the struggle for those gold-laden pennants to be renewed tomorrow.

And the thing that is about to burst forth with customary hullabaloo is the first really crucial series of the year in each circuit. The New York Yanks will attempt to prove in the west that they rightfully own the lead they hold in the American, while the Dodgers will be delighting the home folks—they hope—with a similar effort against National League clubs on their own field.

Thus on Wednesday of next week, the Yanks will have worked their way right into the second place Cleveland Indians' stronghold, with the Dodgers will entertain their chief contenders of the moment, the St. Louis Cardinals.

Red Hot Races
The contention still will be between the Yankees and Indians on the one hand and the Dodgers and Cardinals on the other seems to be cut and dried and neatly stacked. The Yanks are in front by 3½ games, with the third place Boston Red Sox four behind the Indians. The Dodgers lead by three and the St. Louis Cardinals are 6½ behind the Cardinals.

On the trail to Cleveland the Yanks will meet the St. Louis Browns and the Chicago White Sox in a pair of series, which seem innocuous at first glance, but which might prove troublesome. The Dodgers take on the Cincinnati Reds, now regarded by many as the club the ultimate winner will have to beat out, and the Chicago Cubs, who seem determined to go nowhere in all possible haste.

Elders-Tie With West Pittsburgh
Score Is 8-8 As Umpires Call Game At Marshall Field On Account Of Darkness

Those pennant hungry Elder A. C. ball players had to be content last night with a 8-8 tie with the noisy "Gas House" gang from West Pittsburgh at Marshall field in a postponed city league battle. The ump had to call the game at the end of the seventh on account of darkness. Over 2,000 fans witnessed the game.

Leroy "Blondie" Anderson was on the hill for the Elders and gave up 12 hits, with the Marky brothers having seven of the hits, John Marky poking out a couple of triples. Dick Powell and Lazar did the West Pittsburgh hurling and gave 13 hits, with Wilbur Pruitt having four, Ducky Guinbaugh and Mickey Huff three each for the Elders.

No Clutch Hits
The Elders greatest trouble was not hitting with men on base in the right spots. A big last of the sixth inning rally gave the East Siders six runs, to put them out in front 8 to 7, but a West Pittsburgh uprising in the first of the seventh gave them the tying run.

The Elders still have a chance for the first-half championship if they can defeat the Lawrence Indies on Friday night at the Cedar Street Field. A win for the Elders over the Indies will necessitate the playing off of the last night's tie game.

BASEBALL FAMILY
Mel Ott sprouts from an ancient baseball family. The Otts of Gretna, La., were always ball-tossers. In the old days when Cleveland trained at New Orleans every year, an uncle of the National League home run king hurled a 1-0 shutout against the Indians, pitching for a semi-pro nine in a spring exhibition game.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND
Apparently Bessemer's grip on Lawrence County league pennant has been broken. Ellwood City won the 1940 flag and also captured the first half of 1941. Steve Kovach, recent winner of the Western Pennsylvania Open Golf tournament, is favored to add the state amateur title to his trophies in the three-day meet starting Thursday in Philadelphia. Playing with a broken arm, Bob Falkenberg of Los Angeles, national boys' titleholder, forced Richard Shipp of Harrisburg academy to three sets yesterday before being eliminated in the first round of the national interscholastic net title play. The score was 6-8, 6-4, 6-3. Other winners were James Everett, Chicago; Dick Hart, Miami, and Bill Vogt, Pottstown. Bernard Mathieson, Beaver Falls, lost to Grant Small, Scarborough, N. Y., 6-2, 6-4. Gene Oeder, 26, a former member of the Duquesne grid team and William Byrskovich, 22, former captain of Clarion State Teachers college griders, were inducted into the army at New Cumberland, Pa., Tuesday.

Mike Jacobs proposes to stage at least two title fights in each of the upper five divisions before Christmas. Either Detroit or Chicago will get one of the most important battles, probably a Louis-Nova fight. Mrs. Lee Martin of the Edgewood Country club posted the low gross of $84 in the women's golf tourney Tuesday at the Washington Nemacolin Country club. Her card with handicap showed a 76. Lee Savold and Erv Sarlin are docketed for a 10-round bout in Hickory park, Pittsburgh, Monday night. Dan Topping, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers football team, has signed Dean McAdams, former Washington U halfback, at Louisville, Ky.

12,000 frogskins on the recent Fritz Zivie-Bunny Davis fizzle. Advance football dope. Every team in the Big Ten excepting Michigan will be stronger this season. This is the opinion of Harry Stuhldreher, grid mentor at Wisconsin. Coach Bernie Bierman's Minnesota football force may be ridden by scholastic difficulties, that's the dope from the Twin-Cities belt. The curve will be straightened by the time the pig pellets are inflated, you can bet on that.

Elmer Riddle, the hottest thing in baseball, will be 24 on July 31. "Bill" Swift cost St. Paul $5,500. That's the price the American Association club had to pay for the ex-Pittsburgh pegger after the speedy right-hander refused to accept a transfer to Montreal of the International League. Manager Billy Southworth won't permit "second guessing" by any member of the St. Louis Cardinal squad.

Along the local leatherist path, "Chuck" Arker, who sustained a cracked ankle during a recent bout, is showing improvement. Jeff Dime, the behemoth from Princeton, swaps socks with Tony Multari, Friday night in Farrell. Les Leasure faces Pete Misto, of Youngstown, in the rubber match, on the same card.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Scribbled while listening to the All-Star classic—

Sizzling note: Jim Rucker, former New Castle high and Shady-side Academy star athlete, will matriculate at Cornell University this fall, according to word reaching these quarters. Rucker is spending the summer at a boys' camp on Moose Lake, Haliburton, Ontario. The local athlete received his sheepskin from the Pittsburgh institution last month.

Al Kreuz and Glenn Wright will dish out lesson No. 2 during Friday's free baseball school session on George Washington junior high school field. In a letter to this corner, Kreuz states that defensive play will be stressed. Al also brings to light the fact that Cox, the young shortstop recently signed by Pittsburgh for $20,000, was a member of the Harrisburg free diamond school two years ago.

Art Fletcher, New York Yankee coach, reportedly receives well over $10,000, which is more than many managers draw down. Should Leo Durocher fail to bring Brooklyn a pennant this season, look for a new pilot for the 1942 semester. Who will he be? Our guess is Freddy Fitzsimmons. "Chuck" Dresden also holds an advantageous post along the rail.

Church Golfers To Play Thursday And Enjoy Feed Plan Picnic Dinner For Church Golfers Following Matches At Castle Hills

Castle Hills golf course will be the scene Thursday evening of the regular New Castle Church Golf league matches, plus a big picnic dinner and general good-time that will follow the matches, it was announced today by the committee in charge composed of Richard "Dick" Hitchcock, Russell Magill and Johnny Hodge.

The matches will start between 5:30 o'clock and 6 o'clock and will be as follows, together with the starting tees:

Temple Israel vs. Epworth, tee No. 1.
First U. P. vs. First Presbyterians, tee No. 10.
St. Marys vs. Mahoning, tee No. 1.
First Methodists vs. First Christians, tee No. 1.
Trinity vs. Highland, tee No. 10.

After the matches have been cleared, the committee has arranged for a putting contest, chipping contest, driving contest, and pitching contest, all under the mazda lamps. A large crowd is expected to attend, perhaps over 100 young and old men. The picnic dinner in buffet style will consist of baked beans, cheese sandwiches, hot dogs, pickles, olives, and celery and other essentials.

Only Eight Teams In Softball Loop For Second-Half
Sunny Boys And New Castle Sons Of Italy Drop Out At Meeting Tuesday

The Lawrence county softball league will operate the second half with only eight teams, it was announced today by Rocco P. Viazgano, president of the league. At the meeting held last night the Sunny Boys and New Castle Sons of Italy decided to drop out of the league.

The second half will start next Monday night, it was announced, providing the first half champion is decided by that time.

Thursday night the Ellwood City Sons of Italy will play the Columbus Club at the Ewing Park field and if the Ellwood boys win, it will give them the first half title, but if Ellwood loses it will put them into a deadlock with the Johnson Bronze team for first place. This will then necessitate a playoff at a neutral field next Sunday.

It was decided by the managers last night that the last four teams in the first half standing could sign new players for the second half. The top four teams are not eligible to sign new men, it was decided.

GROVER KLEMMER IS COAST FLASH
Grover Klemmer, who set a new world's record of 46 seconds flat for the 400-meter dash during the recent A. A. U. track championships, hails from the coast.

The California blond was easily one of the standout performers in the famous event.

TRY STRATEGY
Jimmy Wilson and Charlie Grimm keep umpires bearing down by protesting only plays where they think the decision is wrong, rather than all close plays. This works out better, they claim, as the arbitrators pay more attention to their means.

NEW RACING LAW
Under the new Illinois racing law, tracks within 50 miles of Chicago must offer a minimum of $6,800 daily stakes.

NEW CASTLE NEWS

LASSIE WINNER—Al Vanderbilt's unbeaten filly, Petrify, cops the Lassie Stakes at Arlington, Chicago, by six lengths.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Apparently Bessemer's grip on Lawrence County league pennant has been broken. Ellwood City won the 1940 flag and also captured the first half of 1941. Steve Kovach, recent winner of the Western Pennsylvania Open Golf tournament, is favored to add the state amateur title to his trophies in the three-day meet starting Thursday in Philadelphia. Playing with a broken arm, Bob Falkenberg of Los Angeles, national boys' titleholder, forced Richard Shipp of Harrisburg academy to three sets yesterday before being eliminated in the first round of the national interscholastic net title play. The score was 6-8, 6-4, 6-3. Other winners were James Everett, Chicago; Dick Hart, Miami, and Bill Vogt, Pottstown. Bernard Mathieson, Beaver Falls, lost to Grant Small, Scarborough, N. Y., 6-2, 6-4. Gene Oeder, 26, a former member of the Duquesne grid team and William Byrskovich, 22, former captain of Clarion State Teachers college griders, were inducted into the army at New Cumberland, Pa., Tuesday.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEAAL

The first thing on the docket today is a little request . . . and if you could be of any help in answering this request some fifty young girls would be mighty happy . . . The YWCA camp at East Brook are badly in need of an old fashioned clothes wringer . . . to wring out bathing suits after their daily swim. Now if any one has one and would like to give it to the camp will they please call 8047-R3 . . . arrangements will be made whereby this article will be picked up.

Ed Reed, Highway Superintendent of this district and his men really deserve a lot of orchids . . . they are really on their toes this summer . . . they will get out and work . . . work is something they know how to do. Scrape roads . . . fix berms and the like . . . so he says . . . nice going boys and Tom O'Neill we thank you.

There are two things in this world that a person can't control . . . his relations and neighbors . . . did you ever take stock of your relations . . . some bunch, eh, what! Some mighty queer ones, well, they probably think the same about you. Every family has one or two that is a problem to the whole clan . . . they say and do things the queerest way . . . but they enjoy life. And then there is always one or two who enjoy using their razor edged tongue . . . yes sir, they enjoy ripping up the back, other relatives and some strangers . . . mighty fine thing relations . . . Sure, look at your Mother and Father, nice people you couldn't find . . . well, life is life and personally we are all for it.

They say, that because of defense preparation the automobile industry will suffer . . . steel is needed for this and that . . . we hope that the country will be soon in production far beyond the fondest hopes of those at the helm . . . but, getting back to the automobile here is a little suggestion we would like to make, of course we know it won't do any good but we can talk anyhow . . . Why don't they make autos with soft tops . . . roadsters and touring cars . . . with side curtains . . . remember back ten years . . . Mighty fine cars they were . . . Personally we would like one . . . these models . . . Much healthier too . . . today we are like hothouse plants in a closed car. Well, there is my idea . . . some might think it a bit wacky . . . and some might agree. Hope so.

Bids—Coal

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has approved a proposal of the County Commissioners, who are also ex-officio executive and administrative officers of the Lawrence County Institution District, to invite sealed bids for the furnishing of coal for the County of Lawrence and the Lawrence County Institution District for the winter of 1941-1942, beginning September 1, 1941 and ending June 1, 1942, as the needs of the same may require.

The coal to be supplied to the County of Lawrence to be supplied first to the County of Lawrence and then to the Lawrence County Institution District, otherwise known as the Boyles property, and to be stoker coal and to be of the best quality available in the county, and second, to the Aiken and Lawrence school houses in the City of New Castle, in which the Federal Projects are being conducted by the County of Lawrence is contributing. This coal to be of lump coal passing over a three inch screen, and approximately 200 tons.

The coal to be supplied to the Lawrence County Institution District, to be furnished at the County Home in Shenango Township, and to be of the best quality available in the county, and approximately 300 tons.

Each bid shall be submitted on a form on file in the office of the County Commissioners and will not be considered unless submitted on unit prices and the unit price will be the quantity actually furnished upon orders either from the County Commissioners or from the executive and administrative officers of the Lawrence County Institution District. The bids shall be submitted on unit prices and the unit price will be the quantity actually furnished upon orders either from the County Commissioners or from the executive and administrative officers of the Lawrence County Institution District.

Bids must be submitted in a sealed envelope plainly marked "Bids—Coal" and will be received by the undersigned at his office on or before Tuesday, July 22, 1941, at 10:30 o'clock A. M. at which time bids will be opened publicly by the County Commissioners at their office. Separate bids must be made for the furnishing of the coal to the Lawrence County Institution District, to the county home and to the school houses above mentioned. Each bidder shall submit with his bid a certified check in the sum of $100.00, payable to the County of Lawrence, to be forfeited to the County to the extent that the County suffers loss by reason of the bidder failing to sign the contract and give the required bond.

The successful bidder in each case will be required to give a bond with surety conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract in the amount of his bid based on the estimated quantities above set forth. The County Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Signed: Frank W. Hill, County Controller. Legal—News—July 9, 1941.

Welding Classes Start At Center

Boys Being Taught Acetylene Welding At N. Y. A. Shops In Cunningham Park

At the N. Y. A. project, Boys Work Experience Center, located at Cunningham park, two classes of 16 boys each are being taught acetylene welding in one of the workshops on the plot.

Monroe Kinsman of this city is in charge of the classes and states that there are 29 welding machines now available for use. The boys are learning the rudiments of welding, and are doing fine so far, and are taking much interest in their work. The sessions are seven hours a day, with 40 hours in the week. The course will last six weeks.

More equipment is expected soon, which will consist of hydrogen equipment which is used for acetylene welding, also arc or electric welding material.

Gorman Garnezy, senior youth counselor, says that after these boys complete their course at this workshop, the personnel department, from valuation records made weekly, will determine the ones best suited for recommending for future hydrogen welding work. Before entering the next course, every boy will be required to pass a rigid examination, upon passing which, he will be turned over to the Curtis Wright company instructor. Those satisfactorily completing the course will then move into jobs with the Curtis Wright company.

Mr. Garnezy announces that the equipment for the other truss steel type building, the machine shop, is expected soon.

Boys From City

The following boys from this city are enrolled in the welding classes: Joseph A. Babiarz, Frank A. Bober, Leo S. Boren, Carmen Conti, Louis T. DiThomas, John A. Duda, Joseph A. Ferranti, Nick J. Graziani, Dominick J. Masello, James R. Miles, Stanley B. Nadarzynski, Harry T. Psenzny, Paul B. Small, Harold T. McNicholas and George R. Suzov.

Housed in two of the barracks are 60 boys, one having 34 and the other 26. Each boy has an individual bed, with brand new mattress, and furnished with a pillow, clean linen and towel.

Tuesday there were nine carpenters, also masons, and 30 boys working on the other buildings on the project site.

John Frazer, construction superintendent, states that work is being rushed on the administration building, and the staff cottage, so that the center staff may be housed there.

The interior of the recreation center building has been completed, awaiting the installation of the games equipment.

N. Y. City Will Hold A County Fair This Year

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 9.—New York City, scene of the last World's Fair, is preparing for its first county fair since 1897.

The fair, to be held in Madison Square Garden from September 10 through September 20, is sponsored by the American Institute of the City of New York with member clubs in 46 states.

Accredited by the State Department of Agriculture, the New York County Fair will feature exhibits of livestock, farm products, scientific and electrical displays from all over the New York state.

With a midway and carnival spirit predominating, the show will have everything that any rural fair possesses except trotting and automobile races.

The institute's reason for again sponsoring a fair after an interval of 44 years is its desire to raise funds for its junior science exhibit held in public high schools throughout the year. Since 1897 it has largely devoted itself to encouraging general interest in science, with special reference to young people.

National junior science exhibits are given yearly by the institute at the American Museum of Natural History, except last year when the exhibit was held at the World's Fair.

A non-profit organization, the institute has 20,000 junior members formed into science clubs of 20 or less, with dues of $2 a club and 745 adult members who pay annual dues of $5 for the privilege of attending short courses in science.

Former Resident Sends News Letter To People In City

Mrs. Sylvia Barnes Thomas Tells Of Work In Singapore, Malay

Mrs. Sylvia Barnes Thomas, a former resident of New Castle, who has been located at Singapore for many years, sent a clever news letter telling of her activities there to her many friends and relatives here.

The letter, a printed folder, was illustrated with pictures of the churches in the area as well as the groups with which Mrs. Thomas and her husband work.

Mrs. Thomas is a talented singer and does considerable musical work among the Methodist congregations in the Straits Settlements. The letter received here stated that everyone is fine and healthy despite war conditions, which have curtailed many activities.

Mrs. Thomas is a sister of Mrs. Q. E. Davy, Frank and R. M. Barnes of the Seventh Ward.

Thaddeus-Stevens School Reunion Plans Being Made

Meeting Tuesday Night Advances Plans For Reunion August 22

Early-day Thaddeus Stevens school pupils gathered at that school building Tuesday evening, where they learned that plans for their third annual picnic celebration are well developed, and need but good weather to bring about another reunion triumph.

President W. E. Clark received splendid reports from the various committee chairmen.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to again hold the election of officers at the school, in the fall. A referendum will be taken at the reunion, to determine the method and place of future elections. A board of directors will also be elected at the fall meeting.

At the picnic this year, the sports program will be directed by Arthur McNickle, which will commence at 4 in the afternoon. The picnic dinner will be served in the grove at 6:30. Coffee and lemonade will be furnished by the committee.

Former teachers and pupils having pictures of "Old Thad" days, are requested to send or leave them with J. Marion Swisher, at the McKinley and Frantz drug store, for display purposes.

All present at the meeting pledged themselves to help have a large attendance at the reunion, which takes place Friday, August 22, at Cascade Park.

Mr. Clark states that worth while prizes will again be given for special events, for which all former teachers and pupils are eligible to compete. There will also be splendid prizes for the children who win in the races and contests. It was decided to shorten the sports program, thus allowing more time for renewing old friendships.

In the absence of Secretary Francis Hammond, Ed Bollard took over his duties.

"Wholesale Racket" Measure Is Ready For Vote In Senate

By JOHN PAGET International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 9.—The controversial measure outlawing the so-called "wholesale racket" for the protection of 134,000 Pennsylvania retailers was ready for final action in the senate today.

The bill was pushed through the house by a vote of 146-25, to halt the diversion of millions of dollars annually from retail channels thru purchases made at a discount by company purchasing agents for private individuals and corporations.

Amendments offered by Sen. A. Evans Kephart, Philadelphia Republican, again sparked more than an hour of debate on the floor. Kephart unsuccessfully sought to insert amendments into the bill a week ago but the Democratic minority defeated the attempt after bitter argument.
